1. Two households, both alike in dignity,
2. In fair Verona, where we lay our scene

Translation:

1. ________________________________
2. ________________________________
3. From ancient grudge break to new mutiny,
4. Where civil blood makes civil hands unclean.
5. From forth the fatal loins of these two foes
6. A pair of star-cross'd lovers take their life

_Translation:_

5. ________________________________________________________________
6. ________________________________________________________________
7. Whose misadventured piteous overthrows

8. Do with their death bury their parents’ strife.

Translation:

7. __________________________________________

8. __________________________________________
9. The fearful passage of their death-mark'd love,
10. And the continuance of their parents' rage,

Translation:
9. ______________________________________________
10. ____________________________________________
11. Which, but their children’s end, nought could remove,
12. Is now the two hours’ traffic of our stage;

Translation:

11. __________________________________________
12. __________________________________________
13. The which if you with patient ears attend,
14. What here shall miss, our toil shall strive to mend.

Translation:

13.____________________________________________
14.____________________________________________